Egypt, Syria, Iraq To Form New United Arab Republic

LITTLE HOPE HELD FOR LOST ATOM SUB

Action Unites Nations' 38 Million People

Nasser Expected To Hold Reins of New Government

CAIRO (AP) — The rulers of Egypt, Syria and Iraq have agreed to unite their 38 million people in a new United Arab Republic with Cairo as the capital, but they are keeping most of the details secret.

After four days of unity negotiations, Egyptian Premier Aly Sabry announced Wednesday night that the new U.A.R. will have a single flag, a central military command and one nationality for all.

Sabry did not say who will head the unified state, but there seemed little doubt that Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser will hold the reins.

The three original states will be known as the Egyptian region. Sabry's announcement indicated that the new U.A.R. will have a strong central government, controlling foreign affairs, defense, economic planning, currency, foreign trade, customs and taxes. But a source who was present at the negotiations said purely local affairs will be kept in local hands rather than under tight Cairo control as was the case in the previous abortive Syrian-Egyptian union.

Sabry said the new state will have central control of information and propaganda agencies and of education to insure "unified thought for the nationalist unionist trend."

With much still to be worked out the unity negotiators are continuing to meet in Cairo. Of major interest will be the provision for political parties. Egypt under Nasser is a one-party state, while control of the new revolutionary regimes in Iraq and Syria is shared by the moderate Ba'ath Socialists and Nasserites.

Another big question mark hangs over the future division of Iraq's rich oil revenues, the chief financial resource of the new nation.

There was no indication when the new republic will come into being.

On the heels of the unity announcement came a report that

Only 13 Sign To Give Blood On April 18

Only 13 donors have registered for the Cleveland Regional Red Cross bloodmobile's visit to Salem April 18.

Louis J. Raymond, chairman of the North Columbiana County Red Cross blood program, appealed to all workers in industry, church and residential recruitment to make early reports to the Red Cross office. He said it is necessary to report donor registration to the Cleveland regional office three or four days prior to the bloodmobile's arrival.

Salem must register 176 donors to assure making its quota of 125 pints. As long as these quotas are met monthly in the North Columbiana County Chapter, residents receive free blood wherever and whenever they need it. Residents using blood outside the chapter area are urged to report to the Red Cross office the dates and quantity of blood used. It will be replaced pint for pint through the Cleveland regional blood bank.

Washington Keeps Lookout For More Steel Price Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington's ears were cocked for more steel price boosts today, and eyes were glued on the White House for any signal of another battle to hold the price line.

Hurried, worried, late-hour conferences gave ample evidence of President Kennedy's concern, but produced no word that he was ready to roll up the government guns that flattened last year's announced price hike in 72 hours.

Some senators heard that Wheeling Steel Corp.'s price increase, which triggered the new uproar, was linked to the possibility of a round of wage increases for the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers of America. An influential Democratic legislator, who would not be quoted by name, said he understood that the continuing, informal talks in the industry's "Human Relations Committee" were pointing to an upward pay adjustment.

The USW, he said he was advised, might in return yield some ground on working rules and conditions in contract talks which can be reopened after April 30 upon demand of USW President David J. McDonald.

The off-the-record comment of a few other Democratic Congress

Leetonia Grid Coach Takes Marlinton Post

LEETONIA — "Ike" Farrah, personable young mentor who instilled tremendous zip into the Bears' gridiron program the past three years, has quit to become head coach at Marlinton High School in Stark County.

The Leetonia School District Board of Education Wednesday night accepted the resignation of the 30-year-old coach who guided the Bears to a 9-1-2 record the last three seasons.

Farrah came to Leetonia from Barboursburg High in 1960 and created a program revolving around enthusiasm. Only 24 boys from the top four grades were out for football that fall.

Farrah and his staff increased interest to such a level that almost 60 per cent of the male school population will greet the new Bear coach next fall. Forty-eight students, sophomores, through seniors, plus a stockpile of 32 freshmen, will be on hand in September.

Farrah's new role at Marlinton High, a consolidation of 1,000 pupils three miles northwest of Alliance, will be an extension of his role at Leetonia — to create a grid program at the two-year-old school.

The board also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Marian Cross, chemistry and math teacher, who will return with her husband to Texas.

She has been accepted in Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos where she will work on her master's degree in chemistry and biology, then go on to the University of Texas for her doctorate.

She and her husband, C. T. Cross, plan to purchase a cattle ranch. Mrs. Cross is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Holt. The contracts of 19 teachers, whose contracts were up for reconsideration, were renewed. The teachers are Mrs. Mary Beilhart, Mrs. Roberta Woodall, Roy Kneistrick, Donald Hoover, Hilda Kropat, John Gunyula, Mrs. Jean Batcha, Mrs. Edith Friedburg, Mrs. Lorna Hahn, Miss Clorinda Mancuso, Mrs. Mildred Painter, Mrs. Nell Morris, Mrs. Sarah Calvin, Miss Constance Rini, Mrs. Adelia Musselman and Miss Joyce Morris.

The board voted to advertise for bids on a new school bus to replace an outmoded van. Len Batcha, head basketball coach, was appointed coach of the golf team which has an increasing number of boys this year. His salary increase for the extra duties will be nominal.

Dems Attempt To Get Funds For Schools

Sen. Carney Seeks Elimination of Sales Tax Exemptions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Ohio lawmakers, a senator and a House member, have widely divergent plans to solve the money problems of the state's public schools.

Both proposals came within 24 hours of a mass meeting here of educators seeking to blast loose the Republican administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes from its no-new-taxes position in order to provide an extra $130 million for the state school subsidy in the next two years.

The plans came from a pair of Democrats — Sen. Charles J. Carney, D-Mahoning, who would eliminate a sales-tax exemption on industry to raise school money, and Rep. Harold Romer, D-Mercer, who would replace the sales tax with an income levy.

The House, meanwhile, unanimously approved and sent to the Senate a bill to create a commission proposed by the Rhodes administration to cope with juvenile delinquency. The measure is a keystone in Rhodes' program for Ohio.

The House also passed unanimously a bill to allow community colleges to offer technical programs. The measure now goes to the Senate.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill designed to defer thugs from entering inhabited houses and terrorizing their occupants. The bill would increase the penalty from a $300 fine to life imprisonment.

On the school — finance issue, Carney proposed to eliminate the present sales-tax exemption of employers on machinery and goods used directly in manufacture.

Tongue in cheek, Carney asserted in a statement that he is only trying to help Rhodes live up to a campaign pledge which, Carney said, was mailed to some 85,000 teachers and school officials in the late days of the 1962 campaign.

Romer's idea would abolish Ohio's traditional 3 per cent sales

Holy Week Services

Christ's Concern For Mother, Sermon Topic

"Woman, behold thy son; son, behold thy mother," was the theme of the sermon given Wednesday by Rev. Ray Hunter, minister of the First Baptist Church, when Woman's Day was observed at Holy Week services in the First Presbyterian Church. Capt. Jeanne Manhollan of the Salvation Army presided.

"The third word from the cross introduced a most stirring scene, placing the mother of Jesus, the other Marys and John at the foot of the cross," Rev. Hunter said.

"One might ask where were the other disciples, who vowed that even the threat of death couldn't separate them from Jesus. They seemed to want to keep out of sight and even denied knowing Him. But Mary, proving her love and devotion, was there at the Saviour's dying moments.

"Despite His great suffering and agony His thoughts were for the welfare of his mother, who must be taken care of when He was no longer on earth. So He asked John to be a son to Mary. "Why John instead of Jesus' brothers and sisters is a question to ponder. It would seem that Jesus' family misunderstood Him and his mission and were therefore not too sympathetic, but John, the beloved disciple, having been close to Jesus could be trusted to look after the spiritual as

Proposal Would Boost Unemployment Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A House Industry and Labor subcommittee has recommended to the main committee a bill designed to put Ohio's unemployment compensation fund back to a "solvent" level of $400 million by 1970.

The fund, which only six years ago stood at $619 million, has dwindled to a mere $73 million because of a couple of recessions and higher benefits.

The bill, which probably will reach the House floor in essentially its present form, is designed to put about $210 million a year into the fund against the present rate of $150 million annually.

The top rate on employers during the get-well period for the fund—employers pay the entire cost, the workers nothing—would be 4.7 per cent of the first $3,000 of each worker's annual wage. Present top rate is 3.2, but many employers pay less than their share. These employers are called, in unemployment compensation lingo, "red-line" accounts.

The new bill attempts to bring these employers into a position where they would be pulling their own weight.

The minimum rate for employers who have almost no employee turnover would remain at six-tenths of one per cent, five-sixths of which is due to an emergency levy placed on every employer recently because of the depleted condition of the fund.

In addition to rate increases, a modification of qualification factors for benefits is figured into the estimate that the benefits fund can be rebuilt in the next seven years.

Among the qualification changes provided: —Benefits paid by Ohio to claimants who have moved to another state.

Barn, Other Buildings Lost In Negley Fire

NEGLEY — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn, chicken coop and grain bin on the Arthur Grossen farm southwest of Negley at 4:15 a.m. today. Negley firemen were summoned and remained at the scene about an hour.

The alarm was turned in by Grossen, and also by Cy Wellman a sheriff's deputy who saw the flames and smoke while in the Rogers area.

East Palestine police also were notified and contacted the Ohio Edison Company to replace electrical wires that were downed by the fire. No estimate of the damage was available.

Some equipment was lost, but no livestock. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

The property, known as the Ira Gorby farm, is located a short distance off Elliott Rd.

Grossen told firemen he had turned off the power to the barn earlier, thus ruling out the possibility that the fire may have been started by defective wiring.

Craft With 129 Aboard Sinks East of Boston

Search Vessels, Planes Scour Area; Oil Slick Sighted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy fought against the longest odds, multiplied by deep water and foul weather, and hoped for a miracle of the sea today to save 129 men of the nuclear submarine

Cleveland Sailor On Missing Vessel

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Betty Kroner of Cleveland, whose son, George R. Kroner, was reported aboard the missing submarine Thresher, said today her son was proud to be a member of the crew of the atomic submarine.

Kroner, 21, and unmarried, is a graduate of Ambridge, Pa., High School. He has been in the Navy 32 months.

Mrs. Kroner said she received an Easter card from George, her only child, Tuesday.

She was at church when her husband heard that the Thresher was missing, and she cried when she heard the news, Mrs. Kroner said.

The only other Ohioan listed aboard the Thresher was Patrick Wayne Carmody of Toledo.

Thresher which dived Wednesday and failed to come up.

If they are lost it would be the Navy's worst submarine disaster in peacetime and perhaps in history.

Even as hope flickered more ships with the latest search and rescue equipment were concentrated at the spot in the Atlantic where the Thresher cocked its bow planes and dived at 9:17 a.m. Wednesday, for a deep dive test about 220 miles off Boston.

The operation was hampered by worsening weather that turned back a Massachusetts Air National Guard plane heading for the scene with newsmen and photographers. A gale warning was issued and seas, already rough, ran higher.

And the sea itself, 8,400 feet deep at that point, presented what naval officers conceded would be an impossible rescue problem even if the vessel could be found.

As an example of that problem, the Navy estimated water pressure on the hull of the Thresher, if she is at the bottom, would be about 3,696 pounds a square inch. That probably is more than three times the stress the hull was built to withstand.

Just how deep the Thresher was designed to go is a military secret, but the Navy doesn't even talk in terms approaching 8,400 feet. All it will say of the Thresher's dive capacity is "over 400."

Nevertheless the search fleet swelled to seven ships and submarines during the night, and seven more sped toward the area. The force included another nuclear submarine, the Seawolf.

The searchers were using radar and sonar equipment, as well as relying on visual observation of the waters in case the Thresher might have surfaced.

Also, search aircraft were equipped with a device called magnetic anomaly detection which determines changes in the earth's magnetic field due to the presence of large metal objects.

The probability appeared that the cause of the apparent disaster never will be known.

The last message from the Thresher was described by the Navy as operational — such pure routine that it was not even recorded. Just what it said had not been reported by the Thresher's

Wetzel's Bill On Fire Hazard Cases Gets OK In House

By News Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS — The Ohio House gave speedy approval Wednesday to a bill sponsored by Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel, R-Columbiana, which would give local courts jurisdiction in appeals from state fire marshal orders.

The bill, passed 125-1 without debate, now goes to the senate for hearings. It would eliminate the requirement that all fire marshal appeals be heard in the Franklin County common pleas court in Columbus.

Speaking in behalf of the bill, Wetzel told the house the existing law puts "quite a burden on a property owner who has had his building condemned either to be repaired or torn down, especially in counties far distant from Columbus."

He noted that in Columbiana County, the property owner and his local counsel are required to travel about 165 miles to appeal an order. Generally, he said, assistance by Columbus counsel is needed, adding to the property owner's expense.

Wetzel said his bill, which provides for appeals to the court with jurisdiction in the county where the property is located or where the property owner lives, also would cut the cost of calling witnesses.

Meanwhile, the senate passed 29-1 a bill sponsored by Sen. James H. Grose, R-Hubbard, which would increase to life imprisonment the penalty for breaking and entering a home and terrorizing the residents.

Work Bill

publicans promise a stiff fight and Democratic leaders say they do not know if the bill will be passed.

It won't be called up for debate until the holiday recess ends April 22 and floor consideration is unlikely before May, said administration leaders in the House.

The legislation deals with two programs which, proponents say, will eventually provide up to 100,000 jobs a year to those in the 16-21 age bracket.

One would send youths into camps in a federal conservation corps patterned after the old CCC of the 1930s. The other would establish a state and community force to work on local public service projects.

Temperance Week Planned by WCTU

Plans were considered for the observance of Youth Temperance Education Week April 21-28, when members of the Salem Woman's Christian Temperance Union met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. James Filler, E. 3rd St.

Youth Temperance Education Week is promoted by the Ohio Youth Temperance Council, which is a division of the WCTU. Mrs. Perry Huffman read the proclamation issued by Governor James Rhodes proclaiming this annual event.

Mrs. Filler gave devotions on the theme, "Three High," and Miss Pearl Walker reported on the state WCTU workshop, which was held at Columbus last week. Mrs. Howard Herald read two Temperance song poems which won honors in a song contest conducted by the state organization.

A letter of appreciation was read from David Wilhelm, seventh grade pupil in the Leetonia School, for whom the union furnished material for an article on "Alcoholism." Letters were also read from columnist Ann Landers and Judge Louis Tobin.

Mrs. Herman C. Stratton surprised the group by serving a fruita at the social period. The next meeting is scheduled for May 7.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Children And Accidents

In spite of repeated warnings to parents, far too many children suffer loss of life or limb as a result of accidents.

Nearly 50,000 children have crippling injuries in this country every year. Accidents account for more deaths in children than the next three causes of death (cancer, congenital defects combined). A study by the Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston has revealed that most accidents are preventable.

MANY ACCIDENTS occur, for example, when a child is hungry. This applies especially to the swallowing of poisons or various foreign bodies.

Accidents also occur frequently when the child and the mother are tired. The child that is over-excited and extremely active is likewise accident-prone. He may fall, run in front of a car, or if indoors bump into the sharp corner of a table or chest of drawers.

When the mother is ill or pregnant she may relax the vigilance necessary to keep her child out of danger. Parents engrossed in a family squabble may not only lose sight temporarily of what the child is doing, they may also cause him to become emotionally upset and thus put him in an accident-prone frame of mind.

Many accidents occur when the child is entrusted to the care of an older brother or sister, or a sitter. Children also have an unusual number of accidents when they are in strange surroundings, as when visiting friends or relatives.

AND THEN THERE ARE two forms of distraction that can be particularly hazardous:

A mother may run to answer the telephone or doorbell and leave a small child in the bathtub, where he could drown, or in the kitchen, where he might get burned or cut himself with a knife.

The other distraction, less common but even more hazardous, is moving day. With everything for the parents to see to at once, the chances for accidents are greatly multiplied.

FINALLY, PARENTS often fail to realize that a child has developed to the point where he can injure himself until it has happened, or they may underestimate the seriousness of what has happened.

One baby fell from a sofa and struck his head. Since his mother was in another room, she did not see what happened. She came running in answer to the baby's screaming, but did not know that the injury was severe enough to cause a concussion of the brain until later, when the baby became unconscious.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. has an excellent pamphlet, "A Formula for Child Safety," which takes up the hazards of childhood at progressive stages of development.

The Children's Medical Center (300 Longwood Ave., Boston 15, Mass.) has published "Accident Handbook" (25 cents) which discusses head injuries, fractures, cuts, foreign bodies, poisons, burns, bites and drowning.

The Border Is Still Open

One of the built-in blessings of popular government is its ability to survive inconclusive election outcomes.

The United States did this in 1960, and it appears that Canada is going to do it in 1963. In an election whose key issue was Canadian feeling about the United States, this country's friends—the Liberal party—fell short of a majority while outdistancing the candidates of the Conservative party.

This will mean that Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker, who campaigned on an anti-United States platform, will be forced to yield to Lester B. Pearson, leader of the Liberals. Though the Canadian election was not entirely a popularity contest for the United States, Canadian feeling about the United States was heavily involved, more than any other issue.

But there was no involvement that will affect tourists. The border is still open. The issue was whether or not the United States has any right to use economic and military muscles to shape Canada's destiny.

Canadian pride has been hurt by a gnawing doubt about playing a little brother role to the U.S. big brother role in World Politics. It has been hurt by U.S. State Department criticism of its nuclear defense posture.

There have been cries of "Canada for the Canadians." No one has shouted, "Yankees go home." But there have been murmurs about wishing Yankees would show more restraint. Canadian nationalism has been throbbing.

If the election had been a thumping success for either the Conservatives or the Liberals, relations with Canada might be touchy. As it is, they are just about as they were before, a little of this and a little of that. Or as the leader of one of Canada's minority papers is supposed to have said before the Canadian Parliament on one occasion: "Americans are our best friends, whether we like it or not."

Certain Marked Resemblances

Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Arizona Republican, may be heading into the bafflement that plagued Ohio's Robert A. Taft when he was the acknowledged leader not only of the Senate Republicans but Senate conservatives.

Sen. Goldwater must keep himself from being captured alive, stuffed and displayed over the mantelpiece of reactionaries as a trophy of their hunt for someone who believes as they do.

Sen. Taft had no more in common with reactionaries than he had with the "progressives" nestled around Henry A. Wallace. Even his conservatism had a fatal flaw.

He was susceptible to new evidence. He was firm about making up his mind when he thought he was right and equally firm about changing it when he was convinced he had been wrong.

HE RESPECTED is father's views on the importance of federal backing for public housing, so he lent his name to public housing legislation, to the consternation of many of his ultra-conservative backers.

He could not convince himself that any legal justification existed for the Nuremberg trials, so he blasted them in a speech at Kenyon College, to the consternation of all the people who wanted to teach the Germans a lesson they would never forget.

He could not stomach Harry Truman's violent reaction to the threat of a railroad strike, so he—the symbolic opponent of unionism, according to the union bosses—led the legislative fight to save railroad unionism from federal discipline.

Only when death had ended any further possibility of catching them off guard did the ultra-conservatives who regarded Sen. Taft as their prize trophy breathe easy.

This is what we suspect is going to be the ultra-conservatives problem with Barry Goldwater. No man with his ebullient sense of humor and clear perspective can be counted on to stay hitched in one place.

NO PUBLIC FIGURE with Sen. Goldwater's political savvy is going to let himself be committed in advance to act as front-man for organizations farther to the right of center than any of the backers of Sen. Taft.

The same problem plagues public figures identified with left-of-center politics. They are never as extremist as their backers. They could not have become public figures if they had been at the outer extremities of thought.

Franklin D. Roosevelt never was more than a fraction as leftist as the people who captured him for their mantel piece.

Sen. Goldwater may be the exception that proves the rule, but it will be surprising if, instead of being coy when he disclaims movements to push him for the presidency, he is not striving to escape capture by people he could not tolerate as his masters.

Extend W. 2nd St.

The proposition of Sekely Tool & Die Co. for the city to extend W. Second St. from Jennings Ave. to the plant site near the Pennsylvania railroad is sound and ought to meet City Council's approval for several reasons.

The improvement would include covering the open ditch at the foot of W. Second St. which we complained about only last Saturday, and also would provide ingress and egress to Sekely's tool and die plant and also help other industry which might locate in the community's 58-acre industrial site which lies to the north.

Preliminary estimates for extending Second St. are $22,565, which seems reasonable. In addition, Sekely is willing to deed part of its property to the city for construction of the roadway.

Financing may be an immediate problem for Council but we hope that city officials will give the proposal serious consideration.

In fact, construction of the W. State St. overpass during the ensuing year makes the W. Second St. improvement almost imperative.

By Truman Twill

There have been times when snippets of girls who make out licenses have evinced strong interest in seeing my hair as it really is. When I take off my hat, they swallow hard and get busy with an eraser. It was out of one such interlude that "Mx" got on the license the first time.

What it should say is "Fish" for flesh-colored hair. This would come close to the truth, because from 10 feet away all my hair is flesh-colored. All you can see is the color of the skin on which it grows.

Grows? Precisely. The hair is there. You can feel it with the fingertips if they have been brushed up with sandpaper.

You can see it against a strong light, or by brushing it with your cheek. That is the best way—the cheek test. Come closer, child . . .

I wouldn't get far with cheek-testing at the license bureau. The quicker they get rid of the question about hair, the better it will be. The answers never meant much, and now they mean nothing.

The lady I live with was the purtiest brunette you ever did see when she departed from a state of single blessedness. She now is the purtiest something else you ever did see and we have an agreement that in the next reincarnation she will be a torch-top.

Me. I was a brunette. Today I'm a feshette. And when I have put by enough money to buy a hair-piece I'll be iron-grey, curly. Sure, you can see my driver's license, officer. Mixed hair, that's me.

Goldwater's Star Rising As GOP No minee In '64

By DAVID LAWRENCE

There's something rather sensational going on today in national politics — a ground swell for a presidential candidate 16 months before the nominating convention.

This has happened at various times in past history as other aspirants—who had attracted headline attention and built up a substantial number of votes in the months before the convention — were swept aside by a widespread sentiment that emerged from the grass roots in favor of a "dark horse" candidate.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona has been mentioned intermittently during the last two years as a possible Republican nominee for 1964, but until recently his name was never taken seriously by disinterested observers — nor by some of the veteran politicians.

Something has developed, however, in political discussions across the country during the last six months which indicates clearly that Barry Goldwater will enter the next convention with the support of what might be called the backbone of the Republican party's strength in the nation.

He is going to be as important in the next convention as Wendell Willkie was in 1940, but for different reasons.

This writer was among the first to mention Willkie as a possible candidate at least a year before the convention, but the New York business executive wasn't regarded then even as a potential candidate.

IT WAS TAKEN for granted

Operation Good Samaritan

By VICTOR RIESEL

PITTSBURGH Ride the sleekest trains and the swiftest jets — and many a time you find yourself practically alone America is hitting the road with some two hundred million trips by private car in 1 year. Not always for pleasure. Frequently in search of jobs rolling in jolo-family and belongings packed into the back

In the next month, if the past is prelude, more than 800,000 workers will change jobs — and half of them will hit the highways into other labor markets. Many, many of them will be underfed, or ill, or disturbed inwardly, or in family conflict.

Of those uprooted and on the move because of automation of field and factory, tens of thousands will need social welfare help while on the roadways — and there are unique pilot projects for breadwinners who want to work and are willing to go anywhere they can earn their daily bread.

IS THERE a need for such social welfare in the field. Well, in the areas surrounding this steel city some 10,000 road travelers sought aid in just one recent year. A National Study Service survey in the Albany-Troy-Schenectady area over in New York, discloses that 2,300 requests for assistance were made of strangers by moving people in one month.

I discussed this the other day with one of the most imaginative labor officials in the land — Leo Perlis, head of the AFL-CIO Community Services.

It's Perlis who first led the fight on the quacks who have been bilking the working citizenry out of half a billion dollars a year in fake medicines. It is Perlis who set up sociological workshops inside unions so that the memberships would be taught to help themselves as well as the communities at large.

It's Perlis who has just wound up Labor's first "leisure time" conference at which plans were made to train union members to use their leisure time during this era of the shortening work week. This training will be of great benefit to the nation — idle time could bring many social cataclysms if not properly handled.

NOW PERLIS is concerned with the hundreds of thousands of workers — especially the youth — who are hitting the road.

They hit the road, the youngsters do, without a car. And they need help frequently, he points out. Over 23,000 hitchhikers, most of them seeking work, were helped by the National Travelers Aid Association at last annual count.

What happens to the men on foot, or the families in cars when they need help and find themselves at the edge of a community already burdened by welfare problems?

They go first, Perlis tells me, to the gas service station attendants, and then to the clergy and to the police.

It's all mighty different from the day the working people got off a train or a ship, and in dismay and fright and confusion found themselves directed to the familiar Travelers Aid desk in the rail depot or waterfront street.

Now Perlis and his labor committee, cooperating with the Travelers Aid, pointed out that you just can't put desks alongside the endless thousands of highway miles.

So for the good of the troubled job seekers and the communities near which they pass, or through which they go, Perlis and his friends in the Travelers Aid plan to put mobile social service offices "on wheels." These will go looking for trouble.

THEY'LL PATROL. They will go into the highway restaurants and check with service stations and the police.

These social service trailer-offices will have two-way radios or telephones. And when not on duty, there will be an answering service. The telephone numbers will be posted. Efforts will be made to familiarize the job seeker with the Travelers Aid's willingness to help at all hours.

There will be pilot projects — the first of their kind. For such joint Travelers Aid-AFL-CIO mobile units, Perlis asked and has just received sufficient funds from the AFL-CIO Executive Council to supply Travelers Aid with two mobile social service offices.

After these hit the road, they will be able to telephone local doctors, hospitals, United States Employment Service headquarters private job agencies, inexpensive rooming houses, family counseling agencies, emergency assistance offices such as the Red Cross—even agencies or unions which would be willing to aid with a small loan.

If the pilot projects are successful, this Operation Good Samaritan will spread across America's highways. Perhaps soon none of the uprooted, though strangers in a community, need suffer while in pursuit of their daily bread.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I came to this country two years ago from Switzerland.

I do not understand a few peculiarities of your language. In your article the other day, you used the phrase "cleaning lady." In Europe a lady does not clean her own home, much less go out and clean up somebody else's dirt for a few dollars. The picture in my mind of her ladyship with dust rags and a broom is like a comic opera.

My American neighbors refer to a woman who sells hair nets in the dime store as a sales-lady.

Yesterday when my husband

History Today

Today is Thursday, April 11, the 101st day of 1963. There are 264 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1900, the U.S. Navy's first submarine was formally delivered. It was named the U.S.S. Holland, after its inventor — John Holland of Paterson, N.J.

On this day: In 1689, William and Mary were crowned king and queen of England.

In 1713, Spain formally ceded Gibraltar to England.

In 1941, President Franklin Roosevelt created the Office of Price Administration and designated Leon Henderson its director.

In 1951, President Harry S. Truman relieved Gen. Douglas MacArthur of all his commands in the Far East, thus touching off a heated controversy.

Today's birthday: Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson is 70.

Thought for today: The great end of life is not knowledge but action — Thomas Henry Huxley.

that a businessman could not be nominated. Yet, just about 90 days before the balloting for a nominee was at hand, the regular organization Republicans began to take him seriously.

He had not made any big speech-making campaign. He had not gone into an primaries. It was simply a case of an "image" being presented to the Republicans that seemed to fit the situation at the time.

Sen. Goldwater says tactfully that he hasn't made up his mind to make an organized effort to win the nomination. He is right to avoid giving the impression of a self-seeking politician. In the meantime, he talks frankly, bluntly and unequivocally.

If the Republican delegates like what he says, he knows they will consider him. If his views do not fit the current problems, they will disregard him.

Mr. Goldwater has said enough already, however, to win sizable support among the rank-and-file and the leaders of his party in the West, and in many parts of the East. The South is for him because he has put the "civil rights" issues in perspective and yet has maintained a position that is in line with the Republican record in Congress.

He might really break the attachment of the Solid South to the Democratic party today and also win over many northern Democrats who have realistic understanding of the issues involved in the "civil rights" debate.

What has lately aroused, on the other hand, a noticeable enthusiasm for Sen. Goldwater throughout the country is his forthright comments on the Cuban problem.

He has managed to sense correctly the true state of public opinion — the mood of the average voter. His criticisms of the administration's hesitancy and waver policies, which he describes as timid, have won considerable applause.

BUT IT ISN'T any one issue that makes a candidate seem a plausible choice. It is, first of all, the impression he conveys of fundamental honesty and common-sense judgment. Next in importance is his penetrating analysis of all the basic issues.

In the case of Mr. Goldwater, there is a feeling that he has the courage of his convictions and understands the Republican party's attitude toward "New Dealism" "New Frontierism" and those administration policies which harass businessmen and impair their confidence in economic progress — something necessary for industry to have if the economy is to expand and jobs are to be created to relieve unemployment.

The strategy of the coming campaign itself may be a factor in selecting the candidate. Do the Republicans want a candidate who embraces so-called "liberal" policies, even as he alienates the regular Republicans?

Republican delegates usually are not enthusiastic about a possible nominee whose main strength might be assumed to be the winning of "liberal" Democrats.

The Republican party is more inclined today to pick a candidate who can stimulate and enthrall the regular Republicans and woo a substantial number of Democrats in the South, as well as in other parts of the country, who believe in an enlightened conservatism and who are basically anti-radical.

MR. GOLDWATER'S growing strength means the major factions in the Republican party will have to undergo an "agonizing reappraisal" of just how strongly they are ready to support the fundamental principles of the party today and how articulate and effective a versatile and forthright man like Barry Goldwater could be, as contrasted with the three Republican governors whose names are often mentioned for the presidential nomination — namely, Rockefeller of New York, Romney of Michigan and Scranton of Pennsylvania — each of whom has certain points of voter attraction.

But, while the nominating convention is more than a year away, the potential delegates are at this time taking a good look at Barry Goldwater and talking a great deal about him among themselves.

From the Files

10 YEARS AGO — Artist Tom Rowlands, who lived in Salem until two years ago, has 13 of his paintings exhibited at the Pittsburgh Playhouse Gallery this month.

25 YEARS AGO — A cantata "Easteride" (Daniel Protheroe), directed by W. Wentz Alspaugh will be given at the Palm Sunday service in the Presbyterian church. Among the soloists will be Miss Ora Vincent, Rev. R. D. Walter, Duane Dilworth, John P. Ullman, Doris King and Kathryn Taylor.

35 YEARS AGO — Announcement of the engagement of Miss Nell C. Conroy and Dr. R. T. Holzbach was made at a beautifully appointed dinner - bridge given Wednesday by Mrs. L. W. King of this city at the Nel-Mor, Canfield. There were 24 guests, including members of the Friday Evening Bridge Club and the women of the Monday Duplicate Bridge Club.

and I drove into a parking lot the man said. "Just leave the keys in your car. The lady will take care of it." A person in tight pants came up and THAT was "the lady."

In Europe a lady doesn't scrub floors, sell hair nets or park cars. Work is beneath her dignity. What does "lady" mean here?— SWISS MRS.

Dear Mrs.: In America we also have people who think work is beneath their dignity. They are called loafers.

The notion that work is for slobs is hopelessly outmoded—even in Europe. All work has dignity and merit if it is well done.

No Slap Involved

Dear Ann: Something is on my mind which is causing me sleepless nights. You have helped others, maybe you can help me. How long do you think a man should wait to remarry after his first wife passes away?

My sister was ill for two years. She was a lovely person and a fine wife and mother. Five months after the funeral her husband married another woman. There was no need for him to rush into this marriage, as his children are grown.

I am deeply hurt by this and feel that his fast second marriage was a slap in the face to the memory of my beloved sister and to our family.

What do you think of a woman who would marry a man so soon after his wife was buried? What do you think of a man who would do this? — BLUE GRASS HEARTACHE.

Dear Heartache: This question comes up often — and almost never is it raised by the widow or the widower. Usually it is raised by a relative. It is impossible to know what is in someone else's heart. Those five months may have been like five centuries to the one who was left.

You should be happy your sister's husband is able to pick up the pieces and make a new life for himself.

Confidential

TO HALF CUCKOO: I think your arithmetic is off. She sounds like a total nut to me. Since the woman refuses to get help, change your phone number and keep it out of the book.

TO HOG TIED FOOL: Talk to your banker. He will explain the details. If you are on the note you are indeed responsible.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mixed Hair

Spurred on by the thumpers of an outfit that makes hair dye, forward-looking legislators in the states are striking blows for the dignity of the individual.

They are getting rid of this stupid question to applicants for drivers' licenses—"What color is your hair?"

Iowa is the latest state to come abreast of the time. New York and Maine already has ditched the question. Illinois, New Hampshire and Texas are thinking about ditching it.

The chief beneficiaries of the reform are women, who now are free to change the color of their hair at will, thanks to modern chemistry. Among women who take advantage of this freedom practically none would be caught with the same hair color a whole year at a time.

At any given moment, one of these babes might be picked up by an inquisitive cop and hauled to the pokie for pretending to be a brunette when any cool could see she is a torch-top.

Women, schoolmen. What they do to their hair, as long as they do something, is all right with me. It's men who should be happy about getting rid of the darned fool question about hair color.

Cure Rate In Kidney Cancer of Children Mounts

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — One deadly cancer in children is yielding now to a triple treatment, a famous cancer doctor reports.

An antibiotic, surgery and radiation are destroying all visible signs of this cancer, known as Wilm's tumor of the kidney, in 81 per cent of child victims, said Dr. Sidney Farber of children's hospital, Boston. One boy is alive and well six years later, other children seemingly well for two to five years thus far.

Recounting progress to an American Cancer Society seminar for science writers, Dr. Farber also announced initial success in preserving and using an element in human blood — platelets to combat hemorrhages which are the main cause of death in children with acute leukemia or blood cancer.

He said banks of platelets may become generally available to help treat acute leukemia and acute anemia, and radiation sickness from X-ray treatment of cancer or exposure to nuclear weapons.

The apparent cure rate of the kidney cancer had recently risen to 40 per cent through surgery and radiation, Dr. Farber said. But 60 per cent of children still died, mainly because the cancer had spread to their lungs.

Now the antibiotic, Actinomycin

D. has joined the battle. For the first time, all signs of a solid tumor in children are being eliminated fairly regularly.

Eighty-one per cent of youngsters receiving the combined treatment between 1957 and 1960 are alive and well.

Assisting in the re-construction process were Len Batcha and Paul Frank, varsity; John Gunyula, freshman coach; Dave Pavlasky, eighth grade coach; and Tom Tattersson, seventh grade coach.

Farrah, a Boardman High graduate and star athlete, graduated from Muskingum College where he played three years of football and four of baseball. After two years of Army service, he became assistant football coach at Struthers where he remained three years, then moved to Barberton High for a year en route to Leetonia.

Leetonia High has the smallest population of any of the eight schools in the Tri-County League. Total high school enrollment is 340, including 141 boys. Next year male students will total 145.

members suggested they would not oppose some reasonable wage increase for the steelworkers, who accepted only modest "fringe" improvements last year instead of higher pay rates.

Several Republican senators said the government should keep its hands off the situation.

Kennedy went into a series of meetings Wednesday with Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, and a parade of others.

Black limousines belonging to high officials were parked at the White House until late evening. The only report to leak was that, up to late afternoon, "no conclusions were reached."

As in the bitter struggle of exactly one year ago, the country's balance of payments deficit is at the heart of the administration's opposition to a steel price boost which would spread sooner or later to autos and thousands of other products.

Officials pointed out that steel's loss of export markets to lower-priced foreign producers has been a major contributor to the payments problem.

The trade balance in steel and steel mill products shifted from a $500 million surplus in the mid 1950s to no surplus in 1961, while U.S. steel prices climbed 18 per cent relative to the major foreign competitors.

Steelmen took the position that without more profit they cannot modernize; without modernization they cannot cut costs; and without lower costs they cannot even compete with some foreign steels in the U.S. market.

No other steel company had indicated, up to Wednesday night, whether it would or would not follow Wheeling's lead.

Dog-Tired After Long Hike

"Never again," moaned Gary Huffer, 16, and Paul Baker, 17, two Salem Junior High School students, as they soothed their sore and swollen feet following a 50-mile hike to north of Streetsboro Wednesday.

Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Huffer of 1106 Cleveland St., and Paul the son of Paul A. Baker of 291 N. Madison Ave.

They started their hike at 1 a.m., carrying 15 sandwiches to sustain their efforts and walked out Alternate Route 14, completing their stint in approximately 13 hours.

The boys planned to hitch a ride back but had to walk over half the distance home also, getting into Salem at 5:30 p.m.

Asked the reason for their long walk, the boys said, "If President Kennedy's brother can do it, we can do it too." Both boys are members of the Junior High track team.

City Crews To Flush Water Hydrants Friday

For fire protection purposes, Utilities Superintendent William Thompson and a crew of utilities department workers will spot check and flush about 20 fire hydrants Friday.

The utilities superintendent warned that city water in the vicinity of the hydrants being flushed will probably appear murky for a time, but that the water will probably become clear an hour or so after the flushing.

All of the city's 443 water hydrants will probably be flushed eventually this year, Thompson said.

Salem Twp. Road Program Approved

Almost six miles of Salem Township roads were okayed for improvement this summer at a meeting of the trustees association Wednesday night.

The roads to be improved with either surface seals or mixes include Middle Rd. from Leetonia to Washingtonville, the St. Jacob Church Rd. and the road from McCrackens Corners to the Tee-garden Rd.

The improvements will be made under the cooperative program commissioners who give the townships credit of $100 per mile of improved road.

Salem Township road program will cost $550 above the amount the commissioners give credit for, plus $2,700 more for 890 tons of slag.

Lynn Ripley of Leetonia reiterated his request for the construction of a road from Valley Golf Course in Columbiana to Leetonia to Salem. The trustees said they would plan a meeting with county commissioners to discuss the project.

New Books at Salem Public Library

NON-FICTION

CHRISTIAN DEVOTION by John Baillie. A dozen brief essays by the well-loved Scottish lecturer and writer who died in 1959. The book also contains a short sketch of his life written by a cousin.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT MARRIAGE by Gottlieb and Gottlieb. Marital problems recounted from case histories, but told as narratives and interestingly.

INSIDE A SOVIET EMBASSY by Aleksandr Kaznacheev. A young man who was a member of the Russian diplomatic staff in Burma and who took refuge in the American Embassy there after serving two years, tells of his reasons for his actions.

THE CONSCIENCE OF A LIBERAL by Chester Bowles. Collected addresses and magazine articles which set forth Mr. Bowles' ideas about the kind of leadership which the United States, as one of the most powerful nations in the world, ought to give to the world.

THE ORGANIZATION OF AMERICAN STATES by John C. Dreier. Mr. Dreier was U.S. Representative to the O.A.S. for ten years. In this small book he discussed the assessments the achievements and shortcomings, the problem and opportunities of the Organization of American States.

THE INTELLIGENT WOMAN'S GUIDE TO SUCCESSFUL ORGANIZATION AND CLUB WORK by Barbara Dolliver. A discussion of and hints for solving problems likely to be encountered in club work.

COMPLETE BOOK OF CAVE EXPLORATION by Roy Pinney. Mr. Penney tells of the world's best-known caves, tells something of their history and then goes on to describe how "spelunkers" explore caves.

MENTAL ILLNESS: A GUIDE FOR THE FAMILY by Edith M. Stern. Advice and explanations for families who have members who must have care in a mental hospital.

FLOWER WORLD OF WILLIAMSBURG by Joan Parry Dutton. Mrs. Dutton's English background fits her quite well for tracing the influence of English gardens and flower arrangement on that of Williamsburg. There is actually quite a bit of additional information in this small book — ideas for arrangements, how to dry materials, types of containers to use.

BRINGING UP BABIES by Walter W. Sackett Jr., M. D. Practical advice from a family doctor on child rearing from infancy through the teens.

THE GOLDEN ROAD by Felix Riesenber, Jr. This is the story of California's Spanish Mission Trail. Of course there is little about the road itself but much about the many types of people who used it and who lived along it.

LIFE IN GEORGIAN ENGLAND by E. N. Williams. Profusely illustrated with black-and-white contemporary illustrations, and divided by various classes of society, this gives a very complete picture of life in England during the eighteenth century and up to the accession of Queen Victoria in 1830.

INSIDE RUSSIA TODAY by John Gunther. A revised edition of the title which came out in 1958, reflecting the changes which took place during those years.

OTHER SIDE OF THE RIVER by Edgar Snow. This is "must" reading for anyone who is interested in what the future of China is apt to be—and all of us should be. Mr. Snow is perhaps better known in China than he is here, although he has worked for many outstanding papers and magazines.

New titles in the Arco Publishing Co. series include the following: Best Hairdos, Famous Guns, Outboard Boating, Skin and Scuba Diver, The How-To Book

DOUBLE—Meet Marie Devereux, a former London model seeking an acting career in Hollywood. As a start in films she was Liz Taylor's double for distance shots in "Cleopatra." First fruit of the Rome stint is a role for her in "The Long Corridor."

of Bowling, and Griff Borgeson's Karting Handbook.

FICTION

THE LIGHT OF DAY by Eric Ambler. A suspense story with a background of Istanbul, which has also quite a bit of international intrigue. Mr. Ambler's talents for writing stories of this kind rank among the best.

THROUGH THE HOOP by Michel del Castillo. His native Spain is again the scene of this brilliant young author's story. His object is to portray the lengths to which self-interest will carry people, no matter what befalls the person most concerned. This serious theme is carried out with the use of much humor, even farce.

HUSBAND OF DELILAH by Eric Linklater. Very different in treatment from many of this author's recent titles, this is a modern re-telling of the story of Sampson. Although full of the violence of those times, it is well done.

OF STREETS AND STARS by Alan Marcus. This has a Hollywood background, but its characters and their emotions and dilemmas are universal. The writing is good.

I TAKE THIS LAND by Richard Powell. Richard Powell's books are each very different from the other. This one is the story of a man who exploits a part of the West Coast of Florida, rides roughshod over everyone, even his wife, and in the process loses what may in the end have been worth more to him than success.

MARTHA IN PARIS by Margery Sharp. Martha is the same Martha as the child in THE EYE OF LOVE, but some reviewers feel that this book is not at all up to others by Miss Sharp. Martha is eighteen now and goes to Paris to study art.

ONE DAY IN THE LIFE OF IVAN DENISOVICH. Much has already appeared about this short novel. This edition is the one which was authorized by the Soviet government. It tells of the horrible experiences of prisoners during the Stalin regime.

THE CENTAUR by John Updike. Mr. Updike takes the story of Chiron from Greek mythology and translates it into the story of a modern school teacher and his son. His work is much admired by young people today.

Science Fiction:

PODKAYNE OF MARS by Robert Heinlein. The story of a couple of young folks in the distant day when Mars has been settled by earth people so long that many do not remember Earth.

For Young People:

WITH WELLINGTON AT WATERLOO by C. M. Nelson. This famous story as told by a man who served in the army with Wellington. The author is English and has done a good deal of writing for young people on British history.

The Meaning of the Resurrection:

Rationalization Often Difficult

EDITOR'S NOTE — Christian theologians always have given a good deal of attention to Jesus' death and resurrection. The views of three theologians of today, all of whom give an existentialist interpretation, are set forth by the Rev. Dr. Thomas S. Kepler in this fourth of five articles on the significance of the Easter story. The articles are excerpts from his book, "The Meaning and Mystery of the Resurrection," published by Association Press and copyright by the National Board of YMCAs.

By DR. THOMAS S. KEPLER

Among contemporary theologians who offer vital suggestions to modern man as he contemplates the mystery of Jesus' resurrection, three scholars are especially stimulating: Rudolf Otto, Rudolf Bultmann and Paul Tillich.

One of the classics in religious thought is "Das Heilige," in which Rudolf Otto discriminates between objects in religion which can be thought conceptually (and termed rational) and those which can be merely felt but not rationalized (termed the irrational or numinous).

Otto views the resurrection of Jesus as a numinous event, which man cannot rationalize, but feels, "recognizing that the experiences concerned with the Resurrection were mystical experiences and their source 'the Spirit.'"

THE RESURRECTION thus belongs not to empirical sense-knowledge which does not rely on data from the senses. "To speak of 'resurrection' is to utter a mystery, and mystery is a subject of faith, not science."

The "empty tomb" narratives are holy legends, according to Otto, which later develop around the mystical experiences of Christ "in which the suprarational relation of the eternal to the temporal is mirrored in the medium of contemporary thought. They have enduring values to us from the incomparable beauty and power with which they symbolize the essence of the 'mystery.'"

"The cosmology of the New Testament is essentially mythical in character," writes Rudolf Bultmann, and it is the purpose of the modern biblical interpreter to "demythologize" these myths for modern man's understanding of the great Christian truths.

Myth is involved in the dualism of Satan and his demons vying with God and his angels, to be resolved by a cosmic catastrophe of judgment to end the conflict, into which the "saving event" of Jesus comes with his pre-existence, death, resurrection and expected return, with the Church as the setting for the "saving event."

THE DEATH OF CHRIST, Bultmann continues to assert, is thus both a sacrifice and a cosmic event, in which Christ is both Messiah and the Second Adam. The cross, viewed mythologically, portrays the pre-existent sinless Son of God whose blood atones us, as he frees us from death in his taking sin and death upon himself.

The existential and cosmic value of the cross lies in our taking Christ's cross as our own, the meaning of which through faith is present for believers in the sacraments of baptism and the Lord's Supper (Rom. 6:3; I Cor. 11:23-6).

The cross and the resurrection, however, have cosmic unity; they go together, as "He (Jesus) was put to death for our trespasses and raised for our justification" (Rom. 4:25). Hence "faith in the resurrection is really the same thing as faith in the saving efficacy of the cross, faith in the

"THE CROSS OF CHRIST" and the 'Resurrection of Christ' are interdependent symbols; they cannot be separated without losing their meaning," writes Paul Tillich.

"The Cross of Christ is the Cross of the one who has conquered the death of existential estrangement. Otherwise it would only be one more tragic event (which is also is) in the long history of the tragedy of man."

"And the Resurrection of the Christ is the Resurrection of the one who, as the Christ, subjected himself to the death of existential estrangement. Otherwise it would be only one more questionable miracle story (which it also is in the records)."

Tillich sees the cross and the resurrection as "both reality and symbol," in which something is really occurring in both events, though "there is a qualitative difference": the stories of the cross are undoubtedly factual about an event observed in history, while a mystery enshrouds the resurrection event experienced by but a few.

While the event on the cross took place as a fact in space and time, it became a symbol and part of the myth about the death of one who conquered the powers of the old eon, when Jesus became the Christ.

ALSO, THE resurrection was a symbol which became a fact, when the disciples believed that Jesus' awful death was that of the Christ. In their certainty of Jesus' resurrection, the disciples gave birth to the Church, "and since the Christ is not the Christ without the Church, he as become the Christ."

While Otto, Bultmann and Tillich represent individualistic views regarding the interpretation and meaning of Jesus' resurrection, they all belong to what is called the "existentialist" approach. Jesus' death and resurrection are validated because they speak to man's experience, and they lie beyond rational explanation. (Tomorrow: Reality and Mystery)

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: I hate to brown tiny meat balls! They seem to take ages. I was inspired one day to invent an easy, smokeless method. I made my meat balls and placed them on an ungreased cookie sheet. I then put them under the broiler for ten or fifteen minutes until they browned. I then turned them over and then browned them on the bottom.

One can then proceed to cook them anyway they like. The meat itself will grease the foil on the cookie pan. The balls retain their shape far better and it takes less handling.

DOT BOLLA

Now aren't you real tricky? Think of all the bacon grease that's going to save! I did try browning the little individual meat balls under the broiler as this woman says. Believe me girls, it's great! I suggest that you be sure and use the foil.

Another thing is that when you make these little tid bits — whether for parties or for your good old spaghetti, make lots of them as they can be frozen later and can be used for many things.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: A skirt hanger or a man's pants hanger is perfect for those spaghetti strap dresses or others which constantly slip off the regular hangers.

One does not even need to use the clamps . . . merely slip the straps over the top of each clamp.

ALICE

DEAR HELOISE: I have found that if you make a paste of ordinary talcum powder and some good dry cleaning fluid and spread it generously over grease marks on wall paper that (when . . . it is completely dry and brushed off.) the grease will come off with the dry talcum.

MRS. C. F. REISSIG

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a trick I discovered the other day when I had seven pairs of cafe curtains to iron:

I turned my ironing board around and used the broad end instead of the tapered end. I was finished in half-the-time because I had a much larger surface and did not have to move the curtains as often.

The padding and cover were like new on the flat end. Many flat pieces such as pillow cases, tablecloths, etc., can be done easier on this end of the board too.

As soon as I get a new cover for my board, I now iron an overall iron-on patch on the very spot where I set my iron.

HELEN LOUISE

Tribe Loses 5-3, Opens At Home With Detroit Today

30,000 Fans Are Expected

Donovan Will Face Tigers' Don Mossi

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, back to earth again after their first loss of the season, open the home campaign against the Detroit Tigers today.

Dick Donovan (20-10), the ace of the Tribe staff last season, will face the Tigers' crafty southpaw, Don Mossi (11-13), after the inaugural ceremonies featuring state and city politicians are over.

A crowd of about 30,000 is expected to brave cold by sunny weather of about 45 degrees.

The Indians were tripped 5-3 by Minnesota Wednesday as the Twins gained the edge with a pair of two-run homers by George Banks and Harmon Killebrew.

The Twins bounced off to a 3-0 lead in the third frame against Sam McDowell.

Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts lifted McDowell after a walk and a wild pitch. Jim Perry came in and retired three straight batters, then left for a pinch-hitter.

Next Tebbetts called on Gary Bell, who set down nine straight batters. Gene Green pinch hit for Bell and cracked a homer in the eighth.

Barry Latman came in in the eighth. He retired the first two men, then yielded a single to Vic Power and a homer to Killebrew.

The Indians threw a scare into the Twins in the ninth. Joe Adcock and Ellis Burton singled. Max Alvis moved them along with an infield out and Mike de la Hoz drove in two runs with a double to right center. That made it 5-3.

Green came up as the tying run, but he bounced meekly to short for the final out.

Today's opening day festivities will feature Gov. James A. Rhodes, a Republican, Mayor Ralph S. Locher, a Democrat, and Ohio's two Democratic U. S. Senators, Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young.

New Cars Set For Opener At Canfield

A star-studded field of new cars will be on hand when Canfield Speedway opens the 1963 stock car racing season Saturday night, April 20.

Three 1962 champions will be entered in the MARC event, which will feature a 100-lap feature on the quarter-mile track.

Last year's champs slated to appear are Iggy Katona of Milan, Mich., MARC titleholder in 1962; Ernie Derr of Keokuk, Iowa, the IMCA champ, and Jim Cushman of Columbus, 1962 modified victor.

Just last week Katona piloted his 1963 Ford to victory at Newport, Tenn. Derr will bring in a 1963 Pontiac, while Cushman, who saw action at Daytona Beach recently also drives a 1963 Ford.

Dick Hutchison of Keokuk, who ran second to Katona last weekend, will be in with a 1963 Ford; Ramo Scott also of Keokuk has a 1963 Plymouth; Jack Bowser of Springfield, Ohio, a 1962 Ford and Danny Byrd of Detroit a 1962 Ford.

These are just a few of the many outstanding drivers who will appear in the 1963 inaugural.

Bob James of Cleveland, who finished well up in the money in the Daytona classic, also will see action along with many other Youngstown district stars. Among them are Bill Forney, Don Sawyer, Nook Walters and Billy Erhardt.

Next Saturday afternoon the amateurs and late models will hold their annual open house from 12 noon to 4 p.m. They will sign up with MARC and then try their mounts on the quarter-mile track.

The amateurs and late models will not open their season until the following Saturday night, April 27.

Celtics Rip Royals 142-131, Behind Sam Jones' 47 Points

By BOB SALMON
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP)—Shortly before noon on Wednesday a lonely-looking figure was practicing on the Boston Garden basketball court. First he'd shoot a basket from 25 feet, then he'd walk to the other side, shoot again, then to another spot and shoot again.

Ten or 15 minutes later Sam Jones of the Boston Celtics, satisfied he had sharpened up his shooting eye, walked off the floor.

Some 10 hours later when Sam Jones next walked off the Boston Garden floor, a crowd of 13,909 howling, delirious Boston fans also was sure his eye was sharp.

For Jones had left behind him a prodigious 47 points — second highest output by a Boston player in Celtics history. More important those 47 points paced the Celtics to a 142-131 victory over the Cincinnati Royals and gave Boston the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division final playoffs, four games to three.

Boston's next foe as it hopes for a fifth straight world championship will be the winner of the Los Angeles-St. Louis series. That seventh and deciding game is set for Los Angeles tonight.

"Give the credit to Bob Cousy," grinned the 29-year-old Jones, a North Carolina college graduate. "Cousy kept working the ball in deep and I was able to come off him to score."

The 1964 Women's International Bowling Congress tournament will be held at Lynbrook Bowl in Minneapolis starting April 2.

The American League pennant race is only three days old, and we've got a crucial series already.

The Baltimore Orioles and the New York Yankees, the only unbeaten teams in the league, square off today for a three-game set at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees were the pennant pick, with the Orioles drawing a lot of support.

The Orioles kept their slate clean Wednesday with a 3-2 victory over the Washington Senators, fashioned with the aid of some erratic Washington base running.

Mantle Belts Homer No. 1
The Yankees kept pace with a 5-3 pounding of the Kansas City

Athletics, as Mickey Mantle hit his first homer of the year.

In other American League games, Detroit beat the Chicago White Sox 2-1, Minnesota topped Cleveland 5-3 and the Boston Red Sox topped the Los Angeles Angels 4-1.

Claude Osteen for Washington and Robin Roberts for Baltimore hooked up in an 0-0 duel for six innings, until Don Lock and Larry Osborne of the Nats hit successive doubles in the seventh. Then, with two out, Ed Brinkman singled Osborne home. When Osteen singled, Roberts departed.

Pinch hitter Jim King hit a drive to right field off reliever Dick Hall which would have scored Brinkman, but Osteen failed to touch second base on his way by, and was out, to end the inning.

Baltimore Rallies In 9th
The Orioles got all three runs in the ninth, Jackie Brandt homered, and Osteen walked Robinson. Steve Hamilton, the loser, came on and gave up two singles and a walk to tie the score. A sacrifice fly by Jerry Adair chased in the winning run.

Mantle and Elston Howard hit two-run homers for the Yankees, as Bill Stafford sailed along in fine style on the mound, until he was forced to leave in the seventh with an elbow injury. The A's got all their runs in the ninth, off his successors. Two walks, two singles and a sacrifice fly brought them in, until Jose Tartabull hit into a double play to end it.

Hank Aguirre, the 1962 AL earned run leader set the White Sox down with seven hits, while his Tiger mates bunched three of their four hits for two runs in the first inning. A double by Billy Bruton, singles by Al Kaline and Dick McAuliffe, plus a passed ball and sacrifice fly, got the runs over. Floyd Robinson singled home the White Sox run in the first inning.

Killebrew Clouts 1st Homer

Harmon Killebrew, who led the league with 48 last year, weighed in with his first homer of the campaign, the key blow in the Twins victory over the Indians. Jim Kaat, who led the league's left-handers last year with 18 victories, went all the way for Minnesota. Gene Green ruined his shut out in the eighth with a homer, and Mike de la Hoz doubled home the other two runs in the ninth.

Right-hander Earl Wilson, who threw a no-hitter against the Angels last season, set them down with six hits. Leon Wagner singled home the Los Angeles run in the first. Boston got all its runs in the third inning, with Carl Yastrzemski's two-run double the key blow.

Giants Win 8-7 On Ed Bailey's Grand Slam

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ed Bailey, the San Francisco Giants catcher, No. 2 backstop behind Tom Haller, crashed a pinch-hit grand slam homer that carried the defending National League champions from behind for an 8-7 victory over the Houston Colts Wednesday night.

The Giants trailed 7-4 going into the eighth but loaded the bases against reliever Don McMahon on walks to Willie Mays, Haller and Felipe Alou. Then Bailey lashed a 3-2 pitch.

Koufax Strikes Out 10
White Bailey was parading his talents, Los Angeles left-hander Sandy Koufax gave his finger its first fling during the regular season, struck out 10 batters in a game for the 41st time and allowed only five hits as the Dodgers edged the Chicago Cubs 2-1. Philadelphia erupted for eight runs in the seventh inning and walloped Cincinnati 10-7. Ray Washburn's four-hitter gave St. Louis a 4-0 victory over the New York Mets and Pittsburgh edged Milwaukee 3-2 on Don Clendenon's homer.

The Dodger runs were donated by Cubs catcher Dick Bertell. Bertell threw wildly to let Willie Davis score in the first inning and permitted a Bob Buhl scoring position in the fifth. Davis' single brought the runs across.

11 Phillies Bat In 7th
The Phillies sent 11 men to the plate in the seventh, collecting six hits, including doubles by John Callison and Wes Covington and a two-run homer by Clay Dalrymple. Don Demeter's single snapped a 7-7 tie. Rookie Ray Culp was the winner in relief for his first major league victory. Bill Henry took the loss.

Washburn followed up Ernie Broglio's two-hitter against the Mets with his four-hitter, retiring 17 batters in order from the second to eighth innings. Julian Javier scored the only run Washburn needed in the fifth when he was hit by a pitch, took second on a balk by loser Al Jackson, moved to third on a sacrifice and scored ahead of Al Moran's wide throw home on Curt Flood's grounder.

Clendenon's leadoff homer against Bob Shaw in the eighth broke a 2-2 tie and got the job done for the Pirates. Shaw drove in both Milwaukee runs with a fourth inning single. Don Cardwell got credit for the victory with Bob Veale's ninth inning relief help.

Cassius Clay Will Fight Henry Cooper

LONDON (AP)—British fight fans made a date today for what Jack Solomon's called the biggest boxing bonanza in Britain for a generation — the meeting of unbeaten Cassius Clay and British heavyweight champ Henry Cooper.

Promoter Solomons, who clinched the deal Wednesday, hustled ahead with detailed plans for the 10-round in Wembley Stadium sometime in June, probably June 18.

"It's the greatest fight in Britain for at least 25 years," Solomons proclaimed with delight. "It'll be a sellout."

"I'll beat your Henry into the ground," the confident Clay was quoted. "I'm certain to be the underdog and that's how I like it," said Cooper when he heard the news. "It makes me fight better."

The fight deal was worked out during transatlantic telephone talks between Solomons and Clay's manager, Bill Faversham.

Maple Leafs Seek 2nd In NHL Playoff

TORONTO (AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs, minus high-scoring Frank Mahovlich, go after their second straight victory over the Detroit Red Wings tonight as the National Hockey League Stanley Cup final resumes at Maple Leaf Gardens.

The Leafs won the opener of the best-of-7 series here Tuesday night 4-2, but lost Mahovlich with a sprained left knee. He'll definitely miss tonight's game but the Leafs—bidding for their second straight Cup championship—expect him back for game No. 3 when the teams switch to Detroit Sunday.

Reds Are Idle Until Saturday

Cincy Falls 10-7 To Phils; Hutchinson Is Thumbed Out

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—One of the key players Manager Fred Hutchinson was looking for in the Cincinnati Reds' spring drills this year was a good relief pitcher—a real stopper who could squelch rallies.

His three chief candidates tried their luck Wednesday night and all were roughed up liberally. The Philadelphia Phillies got to work on all three—Al Worthington, Bill Henry and Jim Brosnan—in the seventh inning and extracted eight runs in a come-from-behind 10-7 victory.

Hutchinson stormed out onto the field to protest a balk called against Worthington at the start of the seventh.

His prolonged argument resulted in Hutchinson being thumbed out of the park.

Worthington didn't retire a man.

He was touched for four runs on two singles and an error by Gene Freese.

Henry was next, and the Phils tied it 8-8 on doubles by Johnny Callison and Wes Covington.

Jim Brosnan tried his stuff, but Don Demeter singled in Covington and Cal Dalrymple hit a homer.

After that, there was no comeback for the Reds.

Jim Maloney, rated a good chance for a starting berth with the Reds, scattered five hits and two runs over five innings while teammates stacked up a 6-2 lead.

But his arm tightened up in the 40 degree evening temperatures and Hutch decided to try Worthington.

The Reds have a rest before resuming Saturday with Jim O'Toole down to start against the Pittsburgh Pirates at Crosley Field.

East Palestine Rolls To Easy Triumph In Triangular Meet

East Palestine had a pair of double winners in Harper and Herbert as the Bulldogs triumphed over United and Crestview in a triangular track and field meet at the winners' stadium Wednesday.

Taking eight first places and scoring in every event, East Palestine piled up 78 points. United was second with 48 and Crestview finished with 23.

The Golden Eagles picked up six first places, but appeared weak in the field events where the Bulldogs managed to pile up a considerable amount of their points.

Harper captured both sprint events. He won the century in 11.3 seconds and the 200-yard dash in 25.1.

Greensboro Open To Start Today

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—When Sam Snead won the inaugural Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament back in 1938 Gary Player couldn't have cared less. He was two years old and lived in Johannesburg, South Africa.

But today, Player and every other man in the field of 156 was arrayed against Snead as the 24th annual GGO, now carrying a minimum $35,000 purse, got under way.

Snead, who'll be 51 next month, has been here for 22 tournaments, winning seven from 1938 through 1960 and finishing no lower than tied for third on eight other occasions.

Submarine

escort vessel, the Skylark. It was the Skylark that made the first report of trouble when the Thresher failed to resume contact after the deep dive test.

Announcement of the probable loss of the ship was withheld for 11 hours in the waning hope that there had been only a communications failure.

Word was relayed to President Kennedy, however, some three hours before the public announcement.

A naval court of inquiry was ordered to convene at New London, Conn., to try to determine what happened.

At the Pentagon Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, said the chance that sabotage figured in the matter is considered remote, but it is "something that the court of inquiry would certainly have to consider."

Aboard the vessel were 96 enlisted men, 16 officers and 17 civilians who were checking on the test run the Thresher was making after an overhaul.

For the record they were listed only as presumed lost though all hands took disaster for granted.

But the Navy kept one flicker of hope alive for its missing comrades aboard the fleet's fastest and deepest diving combat-type submarine. Spokesmen said there was the possibility the Thresher, which vanished at 9:17 a.m. Wednesday, had surfaced in stormy seas and was unable to radio.

On this outside chance the Navy threw ships and planes into a continuing search. But Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, said Wednesday night that although he was still hopeful, he was "not optimistic."

As daylight broke over the area five more Navy craft—including the submarines Seawolf and Sea Owl—had joined the search. But the Navy said there were no new reports on the Thresher.

If the submarine had plummeted to 8,400 feet—the depth of the Atlantic at the Thresher's last reported position—the submarine would have been crushed by the massive weight of water.

Anderson said there would be no chance for the crew to survive at that depth or to make a rescue.

There was no indication of suspicious ships or submarines in the area when the submarine disappeared, the Navy said.

The sleek Thresher was last heard from as it plunged in a steep test dive which the Pentagon said was to have been "in excess of 400 feet."

It was then that the Thresher's escort vessel, the submarine rescue ship Skylark, lost contact with it and sent out the alarm that triggered the sea hunt.

After hours of fruitless search for the attack submarine, which does not carry Polaris missiles, the Navy announced bleakly that the Thresher was "overdue and presumed missing."

Some two hours after the first announcement, the gray-haired Anderson stepped in front of the bright television lights of a Pentagon news conference and said,

"for those of us brought up in the traditions of the sea, one of the saddest occasions is when one of our ships is lost, which appears to be the case today."

Anderson said there was "absolutely no chance of nuclear explosion in the submarine, nor is there any danger of radioactive contamination in the shipping lanes."

But he wouldn't hazard a guess as to what may have happened.

That, he said, would be up to a court of inquiry instructed to meet this morning at New London, Conn.

Soon the Pentagon's duplicating machines were turning out the names of the missing men. For hours the Navy had held up the announcement the Thresher was missing so as not to worry relatives in case it was a false alarm.

When the word came it swept quickly through Portsmouth, N.H., the seaport town where the Thresher was launched in 1960 and from which it left Tuesday for sea trials after an overhaul. She had been due back this morning.

Navy officers and civilians crowded into the Portsmouth Navy Yard administration building. A barracks was set aside to provide information for relatives of the crew.

What happened to the Thresher may remain forever a mystery of the sea.

Anderson said that if the submarine did sink in 8,400 feet it was unlikely any parts would be found.

He said the Navy was considering using the experimental deep-diving submarine Trieste, based on the West Coast, to try to find the Thresher and learn what befell it.

"This is part of the penalty we pay in developing the fine submarine forces we have today," Anderson said.

There have been other submarine disasters in peace and war. But the loss of the Thresher, Navy sources said, would be the worst in peacetime and perhaps in wartime, too, because of the bigger crews on nuclear submarines which have cruised thousands of miles underwater without rising for a breath of air and have poked under the polar ice caps.

One of the most dramatic of the peacetime sub sinkings was the loss of the Squalus in 1939. It went down in 240 feet of water off the New Hampshire coast. Thirty-three of the 59 aboard were rescued, and the Squalus was eventually raised and saw wartime service.

During the war, of course, scores of submarines were lost. But naval sources said they didn't know if any involved a greater loss of life than the Thresher.

One American sub was known to have gone down with 102 persons—including Army personnel—a Navy spokesman said. Also, he said, the Japanese had some big submarines capable of transporting troops.

Since the war two conventionally powered submarines were lost. The Cochina sank in the North Atlantic in 1949 after fire broke out. But the crew was rescued by another sub.

In 1958, the Stickleback went down after colliding with a destroyer near the entrance to Pearl Harbor. Again, all hands were saved.

Lady Smokers

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of life's little ordeals for the American male is the problem of taking care of the lady smoker.

It isn't enough today, in a woman's world, that a man open doors for the ladies, doff his bonnet in an elevator to them, give up his seat in a bus to them, and bring his paycheck home in his mouth to the fairest of them all.

No, indeed. One of the fringe benefits of manhood — and the sternest test of gallantry — is the privilege of helping the girls through the ceremonial rites of the nicotine habit.

Here are some types of lady smokers familiar to most men: "Sandra Showoff"—This female powerhouse likes ostentation as well as attention. She waits until she's at the far corner of the room before pulling out her cigarette, thus forcing you to gallop over before everybody to ignite it.

"Goldigger Gertie"—No matter where you meet her, whether at a cocktail party or atop the Statue of Liberty, the cigarette she pulls out is always her very last one. Somehow, somewhere, you have to manage to get her another pack immediately—if you're any kind of man at all.

"Thelma Twitchy"—The gabby type. Keeps talking as you try to light her up, and the cigarette bobs around in all directions like a weather vane. When the match finally burns your fingers and you cry "Ouch!", she asks loudly, "What's the matter? Got the shakes again? Maybe you'd better lay off the stuff for while."

"Exotic Eric"—Can't stand anything except highly perfumed Oriental cigarettes which she puffs from the near end of a two-foot black and silver holder. After half an hour by her, you reel away smelling like an old Chinese temple.

"Bertha Beatnik"—She's the Bohemian type. Thinks cigarettes are strictly for the cowbirds at the party. Prefers an imitation cornucopia pipe encrusted with rhinestones. Gets ashes on rug by knocking pipe against her shoe heel. One nice thing about Bertha: Your wife never invites her back again.

"Smudge-Pot Nell"—This human chimney is a chain smoker who feels socially insecure unless she has at least three cigarettes going for her at all times. A man really needs a blow torch to keep her lit up.

"Independent Inez"—Ruggedly self-reliant. Waits until a man gets his lighter out, chills his chivalry with the cold remark, "Oh, I'm a big girl now. I'm quite able to light my own cigarette." The man, crestfallen, withdraws his lighter, silently wishing he could cram it down her proud throat.

"Critical Kitty"—She blows smoke rings in your face for an hour. But when you light up a cigar yourself in self-defense, she wails, "Please put it out, won't you? I simply can't stand the smell of those awful things."

Dames like these are enough to give any fellow nicotine narcosis. They help explain why women may be smoking more today—but men are enjoying it less.
